

I'm sure that local broadcast stations would say that the reason that they provide local traffic and weather is for the safety and convenience of their listeners.

If they are truly concerned about the safety and convenience of the people who live in their listening area, they shouldn't object to anyone getting that information from xm radio.